Fourth Period Death Toll In Nation Over 500

Traffic Accidents And Drownings Cause Largest Number Of Deaths

PLANE CRASHES ALSO TAKE TOLL

(By International News Service)
Smashups on highways choked with homeward bound motorists sent the July Fourth weekend death toll past the 500 mark today.
The tremendous outpouring of cars yesterday led observers to believe that traffic deaths might surpass the national safety council's preholiday prediction of 275.

Fatalities from drownings, plane crashes and miscellaneous accidents swelled
the three-day holiday total.
In the east, where two million
New Yorkers returned to the city
by cars, buses and trains, the death toll for the state was 47. Sixteen deaths were due to traffic accidents and 16 from drownings.

Philadelphia Has 31
The greater Philadelphia area reported 31 fatalities. There were 13 drownings, nine traffic deaths, six plane crash fatalities, one train death and two fatal fireworks accidents.

Western Pennsylvania reported
nine deaths, four the result of traffic accidents and two due to plane crashes.

Thirty holiday deaths were reported in the six New England states.

Washington, D. C., listed 14 deaths, including a freak accident where a man was crushed while pushing a truck from a garage.

Cleveland and Columbus, O., reported an incomplete list of 7 deaths.

Michigan's death toll was 25, including 16 traffic victims and seven drownings.

Six deaths were reported in Colorado and two in Wyoming.

Northern California recorded 16
deaths, Nevada 6 and Oregon 6.
Nebraska reported four fatalities.

Drownings Near 150
Drownings were near the 150
mark in the 48 states. Fireworks accidents took at least seven lives, including two small girls at Elton, Md., who were killed when sparks from a firecracker exploded onto their fireworks.

Pa Newc Observes

Pa Newc is in receipt of a note from an R.D. 1 reader in regard to the item carried a few days ago concerning rare knee high corn by the Fourth of July this year. The reader stated that his corn was knee high on Friday, June 13.

A drive East Sunday by one of Pa Newc's boys into Allegheny and Westmoreland Counties revealed crops in various stages of growth. A number of the corn crops presented pleasing pictures, while others showed very little growth. Although it was a day of rest, cherry picking and hay cutting was in vogue on many farms en route. Rain, which developed at 11 p. m., was general along the route from Greensburg to New Castle.

Inclement weather conditions as far as flying is concerned, caused the emergency landing of five A.
T. 6 planes at the New Castle airport on Sunday evening. The planes flying from Johnstown to the Greater Pittsburgh airport were forced to detour via New Castle. The pilots led by Captain Bradley of Johnstown, remained in the city overnight and left about 10 o'clock this morning, for their flight to Pittsburgh.

"Flying Disc" Reports From Many Sections

(International News Service)
The first report of a landing by a squadron of "flying discs" was followed today by a rash of new reports of their appearance in widely scattered areas of the west.

Oregon National Guard planes were on alert, ready to chase and photograph any of the mysterious flying intruders that come within their range, while attention of the civilians—and the apprehensive—turned to the mountain wilds of northern Idaho.

There, according to nine persons,
a bevy of eight shining "flying saucers" swooped on to a mountainside west of St. Maries, Ida., at twilight last Thursday.

"Fluttered To Ground"
The delayed report came from a Spokane, Wash., housewife, Mrs.
Walter Johnson. She told newsmen:

"They came out of the south,
traveling northward at extreme speed. They flittered to the ground along the St. Joe river.
"There was no noise and the trees seemed to be unperturbed

Long Avenue Man Found Dead Sunday

Peter Gori Meets Death As Result Of Fall Down Stairway At His Apartment During Night

Peter Gori, aged 57 years, was found dead at the foot of a stairway leading from his apartment at 1300 E. East Long avenue, Sunday morning, death being accidental Deputy Coroner Charles E. Allen reporting after an investigation.

Mr. Gori, who lived alone, had evidently come down stairs and turned the lights out in the storeroom of Oscar Levine, which he was accustomed to do, late in the evening. It is believed that he slipped and fell while ascending the stairs again, striking his head on the stairway and fracturing his skull.

His body was discovered about 9 o'clock by two boys, Kenneth Daniels, aged 6, of 126 Frank Way, and Walter McClelland, aged 9, of 128
E. Center Way. They notified Officer James Brown, who called police headquarters, and Deputy Coroner Allen was in turn notified. As far as can be ascertained, Gori has no close relatives in this country. The body was removed to the Noga
Funeral Home, 101 E. Long avenue.

Liquor Quota Law Exemption Bill Is Vetoed

HARRISBURG, July 7.—(INS)—
A bill which would have exempted nationally chartered veterans organizations from the liquor quota license law for an 18-month period was vetoed by Gov. James H. Duff.
He said his objection was rooted in judicial decisions and that
"making a separate class of veterans' organization for the purpose of receiving licenses to sell liquor would, in our opinion, amount to special legislation and be clearly unconstitutional."

The bill, sponsored by Senators Fraser T. Donlan (R) Lackawanna, and Carlton T. Woodring (D), Northampton, was designed to circumvent the quota law which limits licensees to one for each 1,000 population.
The measure, which had the backing of veterans' organizations throughout Pennsylvania, would have embraced Veterans' Home Associations as well as clubs.

Surprise Moves By Diplomats Are Indicated

Believe Russia Will Intensify Diplomatic Activity
In European Area

MARSHALL PLAN ATTITUDES FACTOR

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 7.—Diplomats today are anticipating a series of surprise diplomatic moves by the United States and Russia as cleavage between the Soviet Union and the west becomes sharper.

The possibility of Moscow taking any part in implementation of the Marshall plan for European reconstruction is regarded as more than removed by most officials. However, they believe that Russia will intensify its diplomatic activity in areas where Soviet prestige is endangered.

Hint Of Steps

A hint of the steps which possibly might be taken was foreshadowed
when adoption of the Truman doctrine of stopping outside totalitarian aggression threatened communist inroads in eastern Europe. The first major development then was the pro-communist coup in Hungary.

This coup itself is expected to bar
Hungary from taking part in the Paris conference called for July 12
to work up a plan of reconstruction.
The plan is to be presented to Secretary of State Marshall later.

Observers now are speculating on whether the threat of a communist coup can be expected in such states as Austria and Czechoslovakia. It also is regarded as probable that communist activity may be increased in Italy and France, although both these powers are committed to go to the Paris meeting.

Novel Situation

A novel situation is believed likely to arise in Poland, where officials quickly committed their country to the Marshall plan as soon as Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov

Franco Claims Approval Given Succession Plan

MADRID, July 7.—(INS)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government claimed "overwhelming" popular approval today of its plan for selecting his successor.

Interior Minister Blas Perez Gonzalez, in the initial official announcement concerning the referendum whose outcome never was in doubt, estimated between 75 and 83 percent of the voters signified their endorsement of Franco's law. The outcome, based on partial returns, will be announced tomorrow, he added.

Perez said the estimate was based on examination of returns from such key points as Madrid, Barcelona, Zaragoza, and the basque opposition stronghold of Bilbao.

The voting was termed the "earliest in Spanish history. It was, in fact, the first time that the electorate had gone to the polls in Spain
since the February 1936 election which brought the ill-fated popular front to power.

DROWNS AT CONNEAUT

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 7.—(INS)— Deputy Coroner H. H. Walker today reported that Julia Schenberger, 27, of Pittsburgh, was drowned Sunday when the canoe in which she and her fiancé, Albert Netz, 27, of Pittsburgh, were riding overturned in Conneaut Lake.

Walker said the craft upset when Miss Schenberger stood up. Metz, unable to swim, clung helplessly to the overturned canoe until rescued.

Army-Navy Merger Bill Near Showdown

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—
President Truman's controversial Army-Navy unification bill goes into its first showdown on the Senate floor today in its initial test in Congress.

Last year a merger bill was buried in committees. It cleared the Senate military affairs committee,
but hit a snag in the naval affairs committee, which insisted on its right to take a hand in the legislation.

The new bill is a carefully worked out "compromise" written by a joint group of high army and navy officers to meet the President's insistence that the two services get together.

Await Attitude Of Russia's Satellites On Marshall Plan

LONDON, July 7.—(INS)—The question of how Russia's satellites will react to the Anglo-French invitation to the parley next Saturday on the Marshall plan remained unanswered today though three more western nations indicated acceptance of the bids.

Those accepting were Greece, Belgium and Holland.

Dispatches from Brussels quoted authoritative quarters as saying that the Belgian-Dutch decision to accept the invitation "in principle" was taken jointly.

Greece's official acceptance of the bid to discuss the Marshall plan at Paris was handed the French and British diplomatic representatives in Athens.

Poland Marking Time

However, the Prague radio—which last night said without confirmation that Czechoslovakia accepted the invitation—indicated that Poland is marking time before making any clear-cut statement of acceptance or rejection.

The Czech broadcast quoted Polish Premier Josef Cvrkiewicz as saying that, while at the Czech-Polish economic conference in Poland, Poland made known her "pos-

Admittance Of Displaced War Victims Asked

President Asks Special Emergency Legislation
From Congress At Once

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—
President Truman took steps today to make it possible for displaced war victims of Europe to find haven and new homes in the United States.
The chief executive sent a special message to congress asking for emergency legislation to permit
"a substantial number" of a million surviving displaced persons in Germany, Austria and Italy to come to this country.

Mr. Truman explained that these people are the remnants of seven million refugees who already have been returned to their homes in Europe. He said that the remainder are survivors of persecution "who are unwilling by reason of political opinion and fear of persecution to return to the areas where they once had homes."

From Russian Areas

The President explained that the great majority of them came from areas now under Russian domination—the northern Baltic areas, Poland, Russian Ukraine and Yugoslavia.

He said that a survey of the occupational backgrounds of those in

French Premier Negotiates New Political Hurdle

PARIS, July 7.—(INS)—Premier Paul Ramadier successfully negotiated another political hurdle today
when the Socialist National Council backed his government and "heartily" endorsed the Marshall plan.

Delegates to the council voted to support Ramadier's regime by a vote of 257 to 205. There were 127 absences.

Endorsement of the Marshall plan was unanimous. The delegates approved a motion calling the American project "an occasion in the European plan of reconstruction," and "heartily thanking the American people and their government."

WOMAN IS KILLED

OIL CITY, Pa., July 7.—(INS)—
The Venango county coroner's office
today reported Mrs. Mary Schiffer, 52, died from injuries suffered when she was thrown from a wagon
when a team of horses bolted.

According to witnesses Mrs.
Schiffer was helping her husband load hay Saturday when she was thrown from the wagon.

Plane Crashes Into Three Houses; One Person Dead

QUINCY, Mass., July 7.—(INS)—
One person was dead and two were injured today after a two-passenger Navy SB2C Helldiver bomber crashed into a row of three houses during a take-off, leaving a trail of burning wreckage.

The pilot of the plane, who was killed, was identified as Ensign George E. Curley, USNR, of Boston.
His passenger, Storekeeper 3rd Class Hugh F. Ahern, also of Boston, suffered a broken jaw, internal injuries and severe cuts.

Fire Damages Home Sunday Afternoon

Damage of around $300 was done at the home of Mrs. Mary Vendilla of 617½ Superior street Sunday afternoon at 3:40 o'clock. Assistant Chief W. H. Hawk reported today.
The fire started from an undetermined cause in a clothes press, and firemen had it under control in short order after arriving at the scene.

CONVENTION ACTS ON SEVERAL ISSUES

Five days of successful convention sessions were concluded Sunday afternoon in the Cathedral by the Pennsylvania Sons of Italy. In the closing session the delegates selected Wilkes-Barre as the 1948 site, passed resolutions condemning Communism, asked aid and understanding for Italy, and thanked the city of New Castle through Mayor John F.
Haven for the hospitality during the convention.

A number of local people were honored at the Sunday session. Ven-

Bjord of Ellwood City were named as delegates to the national convention in San Francisco, Cal., in August. Alderman B. J. Biondi, the general chairman of the convention was named District Deputy Vener-

by resolution. Colisimo Galasso was

British Hopes For Conference Are Increasing

(BULLETIN)
LONDON, July 7.—(INS)—British hopes for success of the forthcoming 22-nation Marshall plan conference mounted tonight with a promise of Czechoslovak attendance.

A Reuters dispatch from Prague said the Czechoslovak government had accepted the Anglo-French invitation officially and while there still were doubts about Poland's participation, the atmosphere seemed definitely more favorable.

Authoritative circles said that Foreign Secretary Bevin is expected to head the British delegation when the parley opens Saturday although

Governor Dewey Given Support In Oklahoma

SAPULPA, Okla., July 7.—(INS)—
Oklahoma Republican leaders told
New York Gov. Thomas Dewey today that more than a majority of the state's 1948 convention delegates would back him for a second presidential nomination.

However, they added, there is some sentiment for Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Dewey met for the second time within 48 hours with a member of the Republican National Committee, though he still insisted that his current 4,500-mile tour of the Middle West, Southwest and West was "non-political."

His latest visitor was Oklahoma Republican leader Lew Wentz.
Wentz told Dewey that he presently has more support in the state than in 1944 when 18 of Oklahoma's 20 delegates supported him on the first ballot.

But, Wentz added, it was too early to say whether Dewey could count on the solid Oklahoma delegation next year.

Expect Approval Of Terminal Bond Cashing Program

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—
The House is expected to give overwhelming approval today to legislation authorizing nine million World War II veterans to cash their terminal leave bonds.

The vote tops increased activity on Capitol Hill as Republican leaders press for adjournment of the 80th Congress' first session on July 26.

The estimated one billion 850 million dollars in bonds held by veterans would be cashable Sept. 1, at 16,000 banks under the legislation being called up in the House this afternoon. At present, they can not be redeemed within five years. They carry 2½ per cent interest, which can be allowed to accumulate, if bondholders so desire.

A heavy schedule faces Congress in the remaining few weeks, with a possibility that adjournment may have to be postponed until the end of the month, perhaps later, if "must" legislation can not be disposed of in time.

Still Working On Agreement For Coal Miners

Contract-Writers At Work
In Effort To Complete
Work During Day

SEVERAL ISSUES IN CONTROVERSY (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 7.— (INS)—A coal strike appeared almost inevitable today as a four-hour session between John L. Lewis and northern operators failed to produce a new contract to assure re-opening of the mines tomorrow.

Charles O'Neill, chief spokesman for Northern Appalachian operators, told newsmen after the meeting that "the contract still is not finished, but we are coming back this afternoon."

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—
John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners prepared to wind up a 10-day vacation today with their new wage contract still unfinished and the threat of a strike once more intense.

The miners' vacation period ends at midnight tonight. They are expected to remain idle tomorrow in any uncovered by a new contract.

Northern Appalachian commercial producers and steel companies, representing about 144,000 miners, agreed to almost all of Lewis' demands last Wednesday, including an increase of 45 cents in the miners' basic hourly pay rate.
Illinois operators, employing 40-000 miners, said they will sign the same terms.

Ready To Act

But the initial agreement has not yet been translated into a formal contract which can be ratified by the union's 250-man policy committee and assure a return to work tomorrow.

The committee is standing by in Washington ready to act when Lewis and the operators conclude an eleventh-hour dispute over the contract.

The contract-writers resume their work today. The dispute reportedly

Petrillo Probe Is Under Way

Congressman Kearns Tells Musicians' Union Head Organization Is "Unfair"

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—
The head of a congressional investigating committee bluntly told James C. Petrillo, musicians' union president, that his organization is engaging in "unfair activities and practices" detrimental to the country.

The short, chunky leader of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL), one of the most controversial figures in American life, was also accused of being a dictator who has denied the American people
"the right to enjoy the kind of music which they may desire to hear."

Accusations By Kearns
The accusations, drawn up in an eight-point indictment against Petrillo and his union, were made by Rep. Kearns (R) Pa., chairman of a house labor subcommittee which plaints against the labor leader and his organization. Kearns told Pe-

Declares Network Musical Broadcasts To Be Banned Feb. 1

Petrillo Tells Probers That Radical Action Is To Be Ordered For Musicians

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—James Caesar Petrillo, musicians' "czar," told congress today that his union will ban all network radio broadcasts of musical programs after next February 1.

Petrillo declared that the move will end transcontinental broadcasts of "big name" bands and that if individual stations want to put "Harry James, Toscanini, or anyone else" on the air they will have to bring the celebrities to the station.

The musicians' boss also declared that his union will refuse to make records for recording companies upon expiration of the present contract next December 31.

Explaining the policy halting network broadcasts, Petrillo said that it would prohibit local stations from transmitting musical programs originating in any other station.

ONE-ROOM SCHOOL PUPIL REIGNS AS SPELLING CHAMP

Dr. John K. Norton of Teachers college, Columbia, who has dubbed one-room schools "educational slums," was not present at the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C.

There, he'd have been astounded to see a product of the one-room school, 14-year-old Mattie Lou Polard of Upson County, Ga., win the national spelling championship.

Mattie Lou bested 6,000,000 school children in the U. S. She has had only one teacher, Mrs. George H. Phillips, eight grades and lunch-room, all in one room. Mrs. Phillips, paid $120 a month, knows how to teach and the value, for instance, of phonetic spelling.

Reuters reported from Budapest that the pro-Soviet Hungarian government is meeting tomorrow to decide its action in regard to the invitation to Paris.

Both Czechoslovakia and Poland are described as still undecided whether to accept the invitation, inasmuch as Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov raised the threat of an east-west division of Europe when rejecting the Marshall plan at the recent Paris parley.

Predictions were that the Czechs and Poles would not decide officially before tomorrow.

trillo that the purpose of the investigation was to plug any loopholes that might exist in the so-called anti-Petrillo act.

It was Petrillo's first appearance before a congressional committee since the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Lea act, which Petrillo defied in an announced attempt to determine its validity.

Faces Expulsion

Kearns, a member of Petrillo's union for many years, faced the threat of expulsion as he directed his fire against the labor leader, who appeared before the subcommittee under subpoena. According to Irving McCann, committee counsel, Kearns is a composer, music teacher and opera singer.

It was Kearns who reported to the FBI during hearings on the Taft-Hartley labor bill that his life had been threatened.

Kearns told Petrillo that he and his union were now violating the Lea act. He stated: "We are mindful of the fact that many of your past and present activities have been outlawed..."

Deaths Of The Day

Sherman B. Bryenton. Sherman B. Bryenton, aged 63 years, died Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock at his residence, 806 Oak street, after an illness of three weeks' duration.

'FLYING DISC' REPORTS FROM MANY SECTIONS

after they disappeared into them. They were as big as a five-room house.

Mrs. Johnson said that the point where the weird objects vanished was several miles away from the party that saw them, and night prevented a search of the rugged country. She said that she and a group of other persons plan to try to find the landing site tomorrow.

Officers at the Spokane army air base said that they were "studying" the report, but did not indicate they would send planes to scan the area.

Seen In Chicago

Chicago July 7.—(INS)—Thirty Chicagoans today joined the multitude of persons who claim to have seen the mysterious flying discs.

The latest Chicago report was from a printer, George Wilkenson. Wilkenson said he sighted some discs last night at a northside intersection. He declared:

"They were big and flashy and were headed out over Lake Michigan. At least a dozen people saw them."

Charles Allen reported he saw a "bright ball" traveling southwest while looking from his front window after midnight. Allen declared:

"I know it was not a light on a plane. It had a peculiar unfamiliar look about it. I am sure it was a disc."

Baltimore Reports

Baltimore, July 7.—(INS)—Reports of the appearance of "flying discs" swept Maryland today with five persons claiming within the past 24 hours that they have seen the mysterious "saucers."

Four residents of Baltimore told newsmen or police that they saw "flying discs" in the skies yesterday afternoon or last night. The fifth report came from a housewife in Hagerstown, Md.

In Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., July 7.—(INS)—FBI agents today reported that a report of the appearance of "flying discs" came from a housewife in Hagerstown, Md.

Findings of the object was reported by the Rev. Joseph Brasky of the church.

New Angle

Towanda, Pa., July 7.—(INS)—A new angle was placed today on the "flying saucer" mystery today by Mrs. A. C. Smith of Towanda.

She reported seeing two small, yellow "lights" revolving around each other Sunday morning near her home in northern Pennsylvania. She claimed the top-shaped "lights" were about six inches in circumference.

"They were not objects," she emphasized, "but what I saw was not an optical illusion either."

Mrs. Smith, who said she had viewed the lights from a distance of 20 feet, reported they had dropped close to the ground and then soared skyward and disappeared.

agreed to go to the Big Three Paris conference. He later withdrew from this turbulent meeting.

In a series of statements and in notes sent to Moscow, Paris and London, the communist dominated Polish government has indicated its interest in and desire to join the Marshall plan. Observers in Washington can see, however, nothing for the Warsaw government to do but eat its words and back-track in to the Russian camp.

In connection with Poland, the United States has one card still left to play. This is allocation of the $350,000,000 relief funds appropriated by Congress. It is believed certain that the United States will withhold action until it has been determined which way Poland will jump on the Marshall plan.

involved Lewis' demands on foremen, the administration of the miners' welfare fund, and clauses to protect the union from certain penalties of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

An industry source said the union wants language in the contract to safeguard it from court suits at any time. Operators reportedly fear both parties risk violating other statutes in any attempt to circumvent the Taft-Hartley act.

Welfare Fund Difficulty

The difficulty over the welfare fund apparently arises also from new labor law. The statute prohibits employer contributions to union-controlled funds.

Lewis agreed to industry representation in administration of the fund but reportedly wants to serve as chairman of the board of trustees with virtual veto power over the board's actions.

The welfare fund totals approximately 60 million dollars annually under the new contract which doubles the operators' present contribution of five cents a ton on all coal mined.

Originally, the new contract was to have been completed Saturday. A policy committee meeting was called to ratify the document. The meeting was postponed until Sunday afternoon and then it was "recessed subject to call."

Ratification of the contract to day will leave until time in which

Wolfe, Corcoran and Linder, leading New York life insurance actuaries, assembled the records of all trucks of the five sales leaders registered from 1933 through 1941... 4,967,000 trucks in all. Then they prepared truck life-expectancy tables in the same way they prepare human life-expectancy tables for life insurance companies.

The result? Ford Trucks Last Longer! Up to 19.6% longer than the other 4 sales leaders! Why? Because Ford Trucks are built stronger. They're built to last longer!

See us today. You'll see why it'll pay you to place your order for a Ford!

A STUDY COULD HELP

Because the President has limited powers to tinker with it, subject to congressional approval, the federal government ought to be a more efficient mechanism than it used to be. During the present session of Congress, for example, Truman has submitted three reorganization plans and two have been allowed to stand.

But if progress is being made, the impression persists that there is still a great deal to be done if functions are to be so allotted that overlapping and duplication of effort can be eliminated, if lines of authority are to be straightened out, if in general the machinery is to operate smoothly—and economically. The public has yet to be convinced that the complexities that developed during the Roosevelt years have been removed—or are being removed as speedily as possible.

Congress evidently shares this skepticism and the President himself seems to feel that it is justified. It is reported that the bill introduced by Senator Lodge and Representative Brown, which would create a commission charged with conducting a comprehensive study of the federal government, will be signed when it reaches the White House. If so, this is one area where there may be fruitful cooperation between Congress and the chief executive.

Such a commission, provided it is made up of able men with no political axe to grind, can do a most useful job. Congress, absorbed in finding solutions to new needs, can hardly be expected to take a detached view of the federal establishment. Even the President must have difficulty seeing the woods for the trees. The advice of men of affairs who can look at the whole objectively should be of very high value.

STRAY DOGS

It is very distressing to read about the death of a child which was caused by an attack of stray dogs. This recent tragedy in the Bronx, N. Y., was similar to several in different parts of the country in past months.

The majority of people are in favor of animal pets and will commend anyone who will go to the aid of an injured dog. However, the stray dog problem has become a menace to the nation. Every community and neighborhood has a situation whereby children and even adults will take a circuitous route in order to avoid meeting a canine pest.

In most cases, the dogs are licensed and have a legal owner. Frequently the mistaken notion arises that a license gives a pet the liberty to roam the neighborhood.

The stray dog has his counterpart in the dog scare. The animal will apparently be asleep in the yard and will suddenly dash at an approaching automobile. The resulting accidents to vehicles have been numerous.

The pedestrian is unable to tell whether an approaching dog is a friend or foe. Should one await an attack before retaliation or should one sally forth each day from his stronghold girded with defensive weapons?

QUICK RESULTS

The President's Special Board of Inquiry on Air Safety lost no time in bringing in recommendations designed to lessen the hazards of commercial flying. In an interim report, it has suggested certain changes in existing take-off rules. These changes have been accepted by the Civil Aeronautics Board and will be put into effect as soon as the revised calculating tables can be prepared.

It is something of a surprise, but a pleasant one, that the board has attacked the problem in this way. Under the President's directive it was given the task of surveying the whole field of air transport operation and making recommendations "as soon as possible and from time to time."

Considering the scope of this assignment, it seemed likely that the board would make headway slowly. Instead, the first fruits of its deliberations were produced in less than two weeks after it was created.

If this meant that the board had decided on a piecemeal approach, there would be some cause for concern. But the interim report leaves no reason for misgivings on that score. It explains that the board has not completed its analysis of any of the recent accidents but that it has enough material on one of them to warrant it in making certain suggestions. So the decision was to make them promptly.

The public expects the board to do a thorough-going job and to suggest a comprehensive solution. If certain conclusions can be drawn before the study is complete, however, it would be less than sensible to fail to profit by them at once. The sooner air travel can be made safer, the better for all concerned.

When young men now entering politics are accused of speaking through their hats, it will be understood that the term is figurative.

Russia's political unanimity probably adds to the drabness of life in Russia, which holds the world's championship in that respect.

Bible Thought

Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law, for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.—Galatians 2:16.

Propose Postal Rate Boost For Books

WASHINGTON, July 7.—It's an old political axiom that the squeaky wheel gets the grease. That is to say, the pressure group making the biggest noise gets the biggest favors. Likewise, the meek and the modest, who may some day inherit the earth, receive little attention from the powers that be in congress. Looking for ways to economize, the Republicans are also scurrying about to find new and preferably painless methods of raising revenue.

One proposal now before congress is to raise the postal rate on books. To those who deal in global sums and global cases, this will seem a mere flea bite on the body politic. It would bring in only two to three millions in additional money.

But small as this is, it can do a serious injustice with consequences far-out of proportion. For many years, magazines have been given preferential treatment on the theory that they helped to educate the public. This has meant, in effect, a generous subsidy to the magazine industry.

Propose Rate Boost

Books, however, have never received such preferential treatment; although they have not fully paid their way in the postal system. Now chairman Edward H. Reese of the house postoffice committee proposes to increase the rate from four cents to eight cents on the first pound, and from three to four cents for each additional pound.

If you can make a case for magazine spreading light and learning, you can make an even better case for books on the same score. In fact, in the field of book publishing today there is a wider range of expression and a more free play of (Continued on Page Seven)

STRANGE ECONOMY

Just why any serious consideration should be given to the committee of former so-called government "economists" in its program to avert a depression must be a puzzle to a great many people. This self-appointed committee purports to speak for a new group calling themselves the "American Committee for Democratic Action." Among its members are several former New Dealers already discredited by the public. Chief Bowles Paul Porter, Leon Henderson, all of OPA fame, Robert Nathan, the CIO economist who issued a "report" showing that wages could be advanced by large percentages without any increase in commodity prices, and William H. Davis, a Roosevelt member of the War Labor Board.

Like many other New Deal proposals, this one is contradictory. It suggests a general ten per cent reduction in prices, and at the same time an industry-wide fifteen per cent advance in wages. It wants cheaper food, but urges retention of ninety per cent parity on farm products. (Continued on Page Seven)

Weekend Visit

"Just how long is a week-end visit? I have friends with a country place who say they are soon going to have me down for a week-end. Also give me some pointers on being a good guest—bringing a gift, tipping the maid, writing a letter—all of the essentials to know when visiting someone I do not know too well."

Answer: Since the more or less general Saturday holiday enjoyed by most business houses, "week-end" usually means Friday from five p. m. to Sunday night or Monday morning. It is, nevertheless, advisable for the hostess to be specific about time when she invites guests for a week-end. In most cases she will say "the train leaves Friday at 5:20. We'll meet you at the station. Stay until Monday morning and drive back to town with Ned."

It is not essential that you take a hostess gift with you or that you send her something after your visit, but this is frequently done by overnight guests and it is a thoughtful gesture. The bread and butter letter written within three days after your return from a visit is a "must."

Regardless of how you feel about tipping, you must remember the maid when you leave. The amount should depend upon the circumstances of the household and the service you received. One dollar is the minimum for a week-end in a small family house with a maid-of-all-work who did not give you any special attention. A larger amount should be given if you had her do pressing, sewing or similar work for you.

As to essentials to know when visiting: Being a good guest is first and foremost. That means being agreeable and pleasant at all times—being enthusiastic regarding all suggested entertaining plans, even those that bore you—avoiding all argument and disappearing during any unfortunate family dissension.

The Parent Problem

DON'T LET TOT FEAR THE WATER

It's a fine thing for a tot or older child to enjoy wading, splashing and finally swimming in water. The child's first fears of water may arise in connection with his bath. He may have tipped over in the water or been frightened at water splashing into his face.

As with all other fears, this type can be helped through your great patience at helping him gain very gradual adjustment. This principle I discuss at length in my special bulletin on fears to be had in a stamped envelope) by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

To the River
It is delightful to take the tot or runabout along to the river, lake or seaside where you go bathing. He may be over-eager at first or very fearful. If over-eager he easily can face early fright. If very timid, you must be patient with him, not hurrying him by forcing him into the water. It may be a marked victory if on the second or fifth visit he merely steps into very shallow water. The main problem is to prevent his falling face-forward into the water or getting his mouth or nose full of it. Some silly adults, even a very few parents, will throw the child into the water. What could be more cruel?

After the youngster has gained confidence he may enjoy wading and splashing in shallow water and later floating while held up by an adult or by water wings (floats).

Teaching Swimming
It is fine to teach children as young as five or six to swim. They can learn rapidly with proper guidance, being protected from undue fears.

A few children who cannot swim or swim much may go out too far. Without talking about dangers merely show them the boundary beyond which they must not go. Check carefully till you are sure your instructions are being obeyed. For the first time or slightest disobedience spank the youngster right then and there, or make him sit alone doing nothing for a good long time on the bank or shore. That may save his life. Don't waste words and emotions.

Strict Discipline
Youngsters from six to 14 need strict discipline regarding safety limits in the water. Many a mother (or father) must spend periods of agony looking on helplessly while the heedless son or daughter swims beyond the ropes. Occasionally parental look on helplessly while the child goes down to his grave long time on the bank or shore. That may save his life. Don't waste words and emotions.

Then there are some water tragedies at summer picnics. Sometimes (Continued on Page Seven)

From Me To You

By MESEKALL

We are almost afraid to look at the final accident report of the nation... it's something that we must face... and it should be that we keep before us at all times. Some of the accidents were unavoidable but the majority were caused by carelessness... which is a crime... crime against oneself... and against the rest of the citizens of this nation. Take time when you operate a motor vehicle... start a wee bit earlier to meet a set arrival time... and keep alert mentally and physically.

Now that the long 4th Holiday is over... some people are still away on vacation... others are back at the old job and attempting to get a little rest... we turn our thoughts to an idea that has been going the rounds. Several years ago we were honored here in New Castle in having the State Police Rodeo choose this community as the place to present their great show. Personally we think it would be nice if they could again consider this town as a likely place to bring their show... this would be a great year... and if the place is already set for this year we very earnestly ask the powers to be in State Police Rodeo circles to consider this community for a show place in '48.

The State Police Rodeo is probably one of the greatest shows of its kind in this entire nation... that's taking in a lot of territory... but it's the truth. The men who make up our State Police Organization are men who have been tried in all subjects they perform and have definitely been found not wanting to ability and good judgment.

Before the motor age took over almost completely... we had several State Police... called troopers stationed here with their mounts... it was always a thrill to see the men riding their beats... The State Police today demand respect... but it seems that a man on a horse just does something that can't be compared with anything else. So to those who are on the "Force" and who are interested in the State Police Rodeo... pass along "these" thoughts to the men who make the dates for the Greatest Rodeo Show on earth.

Parts of the West are being visited by "flying saucers"... I hear Washington wired Bedell Smith "Look in the Soviet china cabinet and see if anything is missing."

If it were in the East we would suspect that they are flying dinner plates... meat is known to have reached new altitudes.

But the landlord is no longer tipping his hat to the butcher... he is even claiming to be the social equal of the used car salesman.

The rent bill seems to have contained a hidden clause restoring full rilling privileges to the James brothers.

I hear one landlord has run up the Jolly Roger and renamed his apartment house "The Captain Kidd."

Many are finding that "voluntary increase" means voluntary as in the army... "I want three men to volunteer for a dangerous mission... you... you... and you!"

WEAVING MOTORISTS
Some drivers are too proud of speed, and some upon the horn depend. The amber light some fail to heed. And come to an unlamented end. Some, trusting to the right of way, Its dangers never think about; But worst of all the clan are they—The reckless weavers in and out.

Though safer is the steadfast line. For safety no concern they show. They never give a warning sign. As from the right to left they go. They may have wives who need their care. But as they're passing that I doubt. They seem of death so unaware—The reckless weavers in and out.

I wonder have they none to love? They would get home at eve to see. And what they can be thinking of So heedless of themselves to be? Yet, death rides with them night and day. As all the traffic rules are they. But always in mad haste are they—The reckless weavers in and out. (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

This morning's mail brought a letter and circular from a publishing house, trying to sell me a volume called "Modern Humor."

The circular tells me that, by investing the small price of $2.50 for this book, I will make my social conversation more interesting, become a better public speaker, a more colorful writer and that I should return the enclosed card today or remain the witless dope that I am.

To illustrate how much you can gain by buying this book, let me quote a few of the examples printed in the circular to show the prospect how scintillating he may become for the small sum of $2.50.

"When Oliver Wendell Holmes was asked by a woman friend what he thought of the institution of afternoon tea, the literary doctor replied: 'It's giggle, gabble, gobble, git.'"

"Platonic love. The gun you didn't know was loaded."

"How can these women expect to reduce when their only exercise is pushing themselves away from the table three times a day?"

"To Woman: The only loved autocar who elects without voting; governs without law, and decides without appeal."

Now, mind you, I have not quoted these horrible examples of so-called humor to dissuade you from buying the book.

I merely want to prove to you that humor is not something you acquire by reading or memorizing, or by any other sort of infiltration or infection.

Humor is a gift, a priceless gift—although that word priceless may well be misused in this particular case.

As a matter of fact, humor is the highest-priced gift that Nature can bestow.

Look at the money our best comedians and humorists are making. Look at Bob Hope and Jack Benny and Eddie Cantor and Jimmy Durante and Joe E. Lewis.

I doubt whether any banker or top industrialist makes anywhere near as much as they do.

But don't think for a moment that those fellows get their magnificent incomes by reading books on humor. True, they have writers who feed them. But these writers are natural humorists, and the comedians themselves have that extraordinary personality which puts a joke over and makes millions laugh.

Nothing is more pitiful than a person who isn't funny trying to be funny. Nothing is sadder than that ubiquitous "life of the party" who thinks he is funny but who is really quite nauseating, or the public speaker who interjects his monotonous talk with memorized gags and accompanies them with amateurish gestures.

Don't try to be a comedian if you are not—"Taint funny, McGee." (Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Truman Veto To Make Work for Lawyers Labor Act's Provisions May Bring Much Litigation Cabinet Favored Veto By Eight to Two

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON, June 7.—Overriding of President Truman's veto on the controversial labor-management relations act of 1947 was a bonanza for lawyers throughout the United States.

Regardless of how labor and management respectively may feel about the new bill, it is certain that it will entail extensive litigation before the exact meaning of all its manifold provisions are accounted for.

There must be final rulings on its interpretation by the new national labor relations board and by the courts as well as by the various parties entering into contracts under it. Many of the provisions will, of necessity, have to go as high as the Supreme Court before acceptance by both labor and management.

The new act virtually wipes out 12 years of carefully mapped out definitions by the old labor board under the Wagner act, because almost all of the old law's major provisions are qualified or amended to some extent.

Undoubtedly, repercussions on unions, which now have to observe a strict role of conduct, will be similar to the effect observed on employers when the Wagner act became law in 1935.

Thus, many of the new provisions may have to be the everyday law of the land. The unions have given every indication that they will fight the bill on every possible point, and it is highly probable industry will do likewise.

SILENT PARTNER.—In the hectic days in Congress preceding the overriding of President Truman's labor bill veto, Senator Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio, copped most of the headlines. However, behind the scenes was another man who observers credit with having more influence than the leaders on the final congressional action. He is Senator Irving M. Ives (R), New York.

Ives, co-author of New York state's fair labor practices act, is conceded to be one of the Senate's top labor experts. It was he who constantly prodded Senate Republicans to tone down proposals in labor legislation and pointed out that Republicans had an excellent chance to enact a sound measure. He was firmly opposed to the harsh recommendations of the House bill. Many of these were deleted in the Senate-House conference which ironed out differences in the measure.

Ives' behind-the-scenes work had its political aspects, too. The New Yorker is a Dewey man. But the Taft-Hartley act now is the law of the land and Taft gets chief credit for the legislation.

THE CABINET AND THE VETO.—The story of the cabinet meeting which occurred about an hour before President Truman vetoed the labor bill has begun to leak out of official sources.

Cabinet members are telling their friends that they never saw its equal for brevity. The story is that all the cabinet members were in their places at the White House table around which they customarily meet. All were on time—and all were kept waiting.

Suddenly, the door opened wide. The president, sheaf of papers on his arm, strode in. He tossed the papers to a skidding stop on the table and said—here it is, he had vetoed the labor bill and now he had some senators to see.

With that, the president was gone. The startled cabinetiers who had expected good, across-the-table talk with Mr. Truman, began silently to read the veto message.

When at last the historic veto, the cabinet found itself divided eight for and two against the historic veto. However, cabinet votes don't pass legislation. The president was lunching with 13 senators who did have votes that counted and might be won over to his side.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

One of the seeming imperishables of all time was in the process of being expunged today and to countless millions it came as a delayed action shock to realize that future British bank-notes, future British coins and official documents no longer will bear the words "Emperor of India" on the royal seal.

Publication of the government's bill partitioning India into the dominions of Hindustan and Pakistan brought out the inevitable but generally overlooked fact that on August 15 King George will renounce the imperial title so proudly assumed by Queen Victoria in 1876.

Resounding Title
It is a resounding title—that of the head of the Royal House of Britain, and it is astonishing how few changes it has undergone in all the centuries since the Norman King William the Conqueror first emblazoned a British crest after his victory over Harold at the Battle of Hastings.

The original conqueror's son, William II, invoked the divinity at his coronation, adding the words "by the Grace of God" to his patent of kingship.

Henry II declared his sovereignty over Normandy and Quaitaine in France and in 1199 King John, who succeeded Richard the Lion-hearted, added the name of Ireland to his crest.

But the next salutary change waited upon the fabulous Henry VIII in the sixteenth century, who became "By the Grace of God" not only king of England, France and Ireland, but "defender of the faith," a phrase that remains in the royal title to this day.

Zenith Reached
Perhaps the zenith of British greatness in Europe was reflected in the coat of arms of Mary I. Following her marriage to King Philip II of Spain in 1554, the royal legend made them rulers of Great Britain and Ireland, France, Naples and Jerusalem and princes of Spain, Sicily, Austria, Milan, Burgundy and Brabant.

Subsequent unions with Ireland and Scotland increased and cemented the list of royal titles and while European holdings and honors dropped off in the course of wars and revolutions the great title of empress descended on Victoria's shoulders in the 19th century.

The imperial designation has rested upon the escutcheon untouched throughout the passage of many decades and half a dozen modern wars.

Now it goes. The engravers of the Bank of England, the ink-smudged workers at his majesty's stationers office, the editors and typesetters of history books and the inscribers of royal documents are going to change a pattern and a pace that have prevailed for a long, long time. It would be interesting to know how the Indian peasant on a tea plantation or a horny-handed worker in a jute mill feels deep in his heart over the knowledge that the "British Raj" is no more.

Many bitter years had to pass before all Americans in the original thirteen colonies became reconciled to the fact that democracy had replaced the golden sceptre of George III.

State Teachers Salary Increase Measure Signed

Governor Duff Approves Legislation Providing Increases For 59,000 Teachers

HARRISBURG, July 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 59,000 school teachers were in line today for salary increases under legislation approved by Gov. James H. Duff.

Standard certificate holders in second, third and fourth class school districts will start at $1950 a year and receive five annual increments of $150 each. Teachers with bachelor's degrees will start at $2000 and receive eight yearly increments of $150 each while master degree holders will begin at $2200 and receive a similar number of annual boosts.

In Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, standard certificate holders will start at $2175 a year and receive five annual increments of $200 each. Bachelor degree holders will begin at $2200 and receive eight yearly increments of $200 each while teachers with master's degrees will start at $2400 and receive a similar number of increments.

Provides Increases

The legislation was designed to guarantee increases during 1947-48 of "at least" $200 for teachers in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and $150 in all other districts.

The salary bill was pushed through the legislature with the understanding that it would fall within the $48,000,000 biennial budget limit fixed by Governor Duff.

Minimum subsidies for financing the salary boosts will be raised from $600 to $700 during the next school term and $800 thereafter while maximum subsidies will be increased from $1800 to $2200 in the 1947-48 school year. One hundred dollars will be added each year until $2600 is reached in 1950-51.

A flat $1800 was fixed for instructors working under wartime certificates.

The net effect of the overall salary and subsidy program was to boost Pennsylvania's state expenditures for education to $235,739,400 for the 1947-49 biennium.

Sleeping Woman Puzzles Doctors

MELBOURNE, July 7.—(INS)—Australia's most eminent medical men admitted utter perplexity today in the case of 25-year-old Rita Argall who has been asleep for six months.

Rita, who first fell into her unnatural sleep last September, was removed to the Royal Melbourne hospital where she awoke four days later.

For the next month she remained normal. But when she was released from the hospital and taken to the home of relatives in a Melbourne suburb she again fell into the coma-like sleep.

Three weeks later, still sleeping, Rita was moved to her own home. There she awoke at intervals until her father died last January. Immediately afterwards she fell into the longest sleep of her illness from which she has not yet awakened.

Her life is being sustained by liquid foods.

PLANE CRASH KILLS TWO

MILL CREEK, Pa., July 7.—(INS)—Coroner E. Blair Shore of Huntingdon county today said no cause could be ascertained for the crash of a small plane near Mill Creek late Saturday which killed two men.

Dead were Samuel S. Smith, 39, of R.D. 5, Gettysburg, Pa., and Fay Frank Wilson, 39, of Allensville, Pa. An eyewitness said the plane was flying low when it suddenly nosed over and struck a pile of rocks, killing both men instantly.

Wealthy Man's Bequest To Aid Victim Of Polio

DENVER, July 7.—(INS)—The will of the late Michael "Hinky Dink" Kenna, Chicago millionaire and political boss, has brought new hope of life to a 15-year-old Denver girl who doctors said could not live.

Genna's will included a bequest of some $35000 to Mrs. Katherine Kenna Stringer, a favorite niece of the Chicago first ward leader. Mrs. Stringer's daughter, Mary Frances, has spent eight months in an oxygen tent since being stricken with poliomyelitis.

Four times physicians told the Stringers their daughter could not live. The local chapter of the National foundation for infantile paralysis said there was no cure and told Mary's parents she should be sent to an institution.

The father has been unemployed because of illness since his daughter was afflicted. But the Stringers took the daughter home and told officials "we will find some way."

The way was provided by Kenna's will filed for probate Thursday. It provided funds with which the Stringers will take Mary to Chicago and the best specialist they can find.

Sir Philip Sidney was so esteemed by his countrymen that when he died of a gunshot wound in his thigh in 1586, his body was taken to London, and after lying in state he was buried with great solemnity in the old cathedral of St. Paul's. The universities of Cambridge and Oxford issued three volumes of eulogies on his death, and the poet, Edmund Spenser, in his poem, "Astrophel", mourned the loss of his friend.

Dear Harry:
If you're planning to build your new home this year, be sure you have an adequate wiring plan. It's smart to include a proper service entrance, enough circuits, and plenty of outlets to fill your present and future needs.

Toothpicks Not Rising In Price

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(INS)—High prices haven't hit the toothpick industry—the price is still a nickel a box.

Philadelphia buys some three carloads a year, roughly about 432,000 toothpicks, according to E. K. Lay, one of the city's largest distributors.

Here's the story behind their manufacture:
Thin strips of veneer wood are moved under a series of chopping knives arranged so that they make one end of the picks wide and the other thin.

The picks then are blown into a dryer whose heat kills germs while drying the wood. The picks are dropped into a box by machine and another machine fastens the cover of the box and puts on a daub of glue.

The next step is up to the consumer.

America's Greatest Historical Mystery

Archaeologists probing in the hallowed earth of Roanoke Island, N. C., have a few more facts on the "Lost Colony" Sir Walter Raleigh founded 360 years ago.

In excavations near log Fort Raleigh at the island's Restored Village, Interior Department experts last month saw the outline of an ancient earthen fortification they believe to be the one from which America's first English colonists disappeared, leaving only the carved word "Croatoan" as clue.

Discovery of the fort's location isn't new. But each detail the survey uncovers sheds more light on America's No. 1 historical mystery.

Besides reducing the possibility of error, the gauge also speeds up inspection of rollers used for precision machinery. Measurement of such microscopic differences is comparable to measuring the thickness of a dime in a stack the height of the Empire State building.

DOUBT A DEPRESSION

Truman's economic advisers have shaken off much of their gloomy outlook for the future. They are predicting a healthy domestic economy, with a reduction of prices now out of line. Greatest depression threat, they say, is the lack of purchasing power abroad.

The only soil in which minerals can be fully utilized by plants is topsoil, where organic matter and humus from decayed plants are found.

Many Mayors
To Be Elected

Politicians Expect Years Elections To Give Some Hint Of Presidential Balloting

OTHER NEWS OF
STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, July 7.—(INS)—Politicians expect this fall's off-year election to give some hint of the temper of voters looking ahead to Presidential balloting in 1948. The only post to be filled by state superior court judgeship, Judge John S. Fine of Ashley has been appointed to the interim vacancy by Gov. James H. Duff, and it was assumed the Luzerne county jurist would have the support of the Republican organization in the election. Democrats may nominate Judge J. I. McKendrick of Ebensburg for the post. Politicians expect the outcome of mayoralty contests and other municipal elections to mirror the voters' public reaction to the Republican domination of the state since 1939.

Philadelphia's mayoralty election was expected to result in another victory for Republicans. Mayor Bernard Samuel has agreed to seek another term. Other cities electing mayors are Allentown, Altoona, Arnold, Beaver Falls, Bradford, Carbondale, Chester, Coatesville, Du Bois, Easton, Erie, Farrell, Greensburg, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Lebanon, Lock Haven, Monongahela, Nanticoke, New Castle, Oil City, Reading, Sharon, Titusville, Uniontown, Washington and York.

Pennsylvania state police have donated two sturdy German shepherd pups to Seeing Eye, Inc., of Morristown, N. J., to help solve the shortage of canine guides for blind persons. The presentation was suggested by Mrs. James H. Duff, wife of the governor, who admired the animals during a tour of the state police training school at Hershey. Two other dogs will be given to the society as soon as they are old enough to be trained. The animals now possessed by Seeing Eye were taken to the school by Rep. Gus Wacchaus (R) Schuylkill, blind legislator, and David Treatman of Philadelphia, representative of the Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind.

Secretary of Forests and Waters M. P. Draemel told the State Parks association during its annual meeting at Harrisburg that he expected to achieve vast improvements in Pennsylvania's parks following an analysis of needs by Frederick Olmsted of New York, who has been touring the state's 108 parks to study weaknesses in the system. One of the drawbacks to maintaining top rate recreational areas, Draemel said, has been a meager annual budget of $30,000. He hoped to have more funds available under a $10,000,000 flood control, reforestation and park development program.

According to the Capitol Hill grapevine, Philip Bucci of Philadelphia, will resign as deputy adjutant general in charge of veterans affairs, over a disagreement in policy-making. Bucci, a veteran of World War II, handled the Republican state committee's veteran's program during the 1946 campaign.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

ducts (presumably also it comprehends the retention of the billions in subsidy payments and support prices). The committee also injects some class propaganda by declaring that the tax reductions proposed by the Republicans favor the "rich" at the expense of the little fellow—a presumption refuted by the published provisions of the Republican proposals.

Discourage Buying
Few persons will dispute that a continuance of high price levels sooner or later will discourage buying and lead to lowered production with reduced employment. It is the experience of history that when prices reach a certain point consumer resistance, organized or unorganized, usually follows. To insist on a horizontal lowering of prices and a horizontal raise in wages at the same time, however, is simply a reversion to the exploded theory gathered by Mr. Truman's advisers early in his administration. The program is another New Deal example of trying to eat one's cake and have it. There is no good reason why Congress should take up its time in weeks of "hearings" on this purely political proposal.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(INS)—Walter Pidgeon has just completed his briefest movie role. It took him only 15 minutes and he won't even get billing in the picture, M-G-M's "Cass Timberlake."

He played himself as a guest at a party supposedly given in honor of Lana Turner. All he had to do was stand by a table and munch a sandwich.

Another "guest" turned to Lana and said, "Why, there's Walter Pidgeon."

To your reporter, Walter said: "Brother, there was one job which was a cinch."

He quit the set to go to the commissary, hoping the sandwich hadn't spoiled his appetite for luncheon.

Over at Universal-International they are thinking of giving Maria Montez a similar role in "The Senator Was Indiscreet." William Powell, portraying a playful solon, would give her the once over and make some such remark as "what a dish!"

To return to the subject of the lovely Miss Turner. For the party scene she was wearing a black suit of heavy material which set out all her curves to perfection.

But, the temperature was in the nineties and the suit was hot. Lana gave a gasp and called out:

"Won't someone please open the doors and let some air in this place."

Lana will complete her role at the end of the week—or so she hopes and then she's going to do what she enjoys doing most—laze.

"I may go away for a few days, but I'm not even sure of that," she said.

Cameron Mitchell is the unhappiest gent in town. M-G-M bosses have forbidden him to play more baseball since he pulled a tendon in his left leg in a holiday game.

Next to his family and his career, Cam likes baseball. He is so good the Detroit Tigers offered him a contract this spring with one of its best farm clubs.

Jeffery Lynn is nursing a pair of sore knuckles. For a scene in U-T's "Black Bart" Jeff had to swing a punch at a minor actor. In all his career, Jeff never had done this before.

Film punching is a fine art. They appear to hit each other, but actually don't. But, they do have to be able to barely graze their adversary's jaw.

Jeff figured he'd practice first by swinging at a fence post. He finally took the skin off his knuckles.

SEWING AT HOME SAVES MONEY

If asked why they make their own clothes, the majority of women would answer, "Clothes cost so much less when you can make them yourself." The homemaker with a moderate clothes budget can have attractive garments for herself and her family at prices within her means.

The continued high prices of ready-made garments is a strong influence for women to learn to make their own clothes. Many women who have little experience in sewing are interested in making clothes for their children.

The woman who values individuality in her own clothes will add a second reason for making her own. She can select the material in a color and texture she wishes and add individual touches that will reflect her choice and not be like dozens of other dresses. The garment she makes may cost half of what a similar one would cost ready-made.

A third reason some women give for making their own clothes is that ready-made dresses must be altered for her hard-to-fit figure which may add considerably to the cost of the dress. She can find a pattern sized to her figure and do the necessary fitting and adjusting while she is making the dress.

The woman who plans her wardrobe carefully has the opportunity to choose patterns and fabrics that will mix or match successfully with what she has. Some women who are especially interested in beautiful materials give this as their reason for sewing and many women take great pleasure in sewing as a handicraft.

M. M. (Cy) Ingham
Is Candidate For County Commissioner

Former Sheriff To Be Commissioner Candidate At Republican Primaries In September

M. M. (CY) INGHAM
M. M. (Cy) Ingham, of Neshannock Township, announces today that he is a candidate for County Commissioner. His statement follows:

As a life long resident of Lawrence County, a property owner, and a taxpayer for many years, I am interested in a clean and business-like county government. I have practiced necessary economies in my own business during these abnormal times, and I feel that every county expenditure should be carefully studied in order that full value be received for money spent.

I call to your attention my record in the Sheriff's office, a record that will bear the closest investigation.

I am under no obligations except to the taxpayers and citizens of the county.

With sincere thanks to those who aided me in previous campaigning, I again solicit their co-operation, as well as the support and votes of all Republicans who desire a clean, competent and business-like administration of the Commissioners' office for the next four years.

CALLING

Idea than anywhere else. Books coming off the press these days radiate ideas.

In the non-fiction field they are a vital source of information, contributing to an understanding of the complicated world in which we are trying to find a peaceful way. Take that whole of a book, "Inside The U. S. A." by John Gunther, which must weigh at least five pounds. It is a remarkable synthesis of knowledge about this broad land and the strange and wonderful things that happen in it.

Valuable Handbook
At the height of the controversy over the Truman program for Greece and Turkey, there appeared a book called "The Greek Dilemma" by William McNeill, based on exhaustive first-hand knowledge. It is useful not merely to the ordinary reader, but for Americans going on the mission to Greece it is a valuable handbook.

Prof. Arnold Toynbee's recently published "A Study Of History" gives us the rise and fall of empires through the centuries. We see in the perspective of this sweep what our own role is likely to be at the present moment of history. Anyone who reads Carlo Levi's "Christ Stopped At Eboli" will have a better understanding of the politics of desperation in Italy.

The list of current examples could be extended almost indefinitely, and there is a long and impressive record out of the past of books that have cut through the dark of ignorance and superstition. In the continuing struggle for freedom, they are powerful weapons.

Several New Firms
While there are large publishing firms and the book clubs are in a sense big business, the opportunity for the newcomers seems greater in this field than in almost any other. Several new firms have come into being since the war ended.

On the retail side, too, the book business is one of the few in which the individual can make a start with a modest investment. A recent development is the 25-cent pocket book distributed in large numbers. Pocket books include not merely thrillers, but fiction and non-fiction titles representing the best in literature.

Undoubtedly, the postal rates need a thorough overhauling. Like our archaic tax structure, they have "just grown." Some interests are favored, others are penalized. A careful study is needed to make sense out of the tangle.

But meanwhile it is unfair to put a further penalty on the publishing business least capable of defending itself. Books, however they may sometimes be debased in the quest for mass readership, are part of the honorable record of man's long struggle up from the primeval ooze.

THE PARENT
PROBLEM

there are no life guards or a few children won't obey them. Let me urge those responsible for the picnic to provide enough responsible life guards at the swimming place and give these guards complete authority to manage the youngsters in or near the water.

Some children are drowned in streams near their home, to which they will wander during a fizzle. Another hazard is the rafts boys improvise. A good rule is always to know where your child is, especially during the long summer days.

DEVICE DETECTS SMALLEST HOLES
IN VACUUM TUBES

CAMDEN, N. J., July 7.—(INS)—R. C. A. has announced the development of a vacuum tube leak detector that "sniffs" out leaks so small that molecules of air have trouble squeezing through them.

The purpose of the detector is to ferret out leaks that might otherwise destroy the vacuum in such devices as electron tubes, X-ray tubes and cyclotrons. It is simple in design, extremely sensitive and weighs only 25 pounds.

And what's more, it can be operated by non-technical personnel.

Apple Crop Will Be Poor Because Bees Detest Rain

SCRANTON, Pa., July 7.—(INS)—The apple crop will be only 50 to 70 per cent of normal this year because bees don't like wet weather.

According to Jesse Landenberg, county farm agent, there isn't much that can be done about the situation, because apples must be pollinated by bees and other insects. And there has been so much rain this season that the bees have declined to circulate and spread pollen.

Although the bees have been picketing the orchards, at least half a dozen swarms have been found near Scranton. These were promptly rounded up by "bee men" and transported to orchards where it is hoped they are now circulating and spreading pollen.

SHATTER THEORY OF SECRET TUNNEL AT VALLEY FORGE
PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—(INS)—Visitors to Valley Forge who have always believed that there was a secret tunnel leading from Washington's headquarters to the Schuylkill river have had their dreams shattered.

Gilbert S. Jones, executive vice-president of the Valley Forge historical society, recently declared: "There is no known record of any 'secret tunnel'. For years the existence of such an excavation was common rumor, which some employees of Valley Forge Park are said to have encouraged as an additional thrill for visitors."

Boy Scouts Given Chance To Locate Eagles' Nest

Lawrence county Boy Scouts will have an excellent opportunity of showing their ability at finding nests—an eagle's nest, in fact.

What's more, there is a prize for him when he does!

According to Owen Penfield Fox, city forester, and Charles N. Giddings, forester for the Pennsylvania Power company, a pair of bald eagles have chosen the site of beautiful McConnell's Mills as their place of haven for the past several years.

The power company was cutting the right-of-way to install power lines at the time the eagles were sighted. Old Mose, caretaker of the mill, recalls the eagles have been in the vicinity for several years and remembers that quite a few sight-seers and picnickers have noticed them.

Can't Find Nest

But still, no one has been able to discover their nest.

All of this just leads to the fact: if any Lawrence county Boy Scout is lucky enough to find the nest—not molest it in any way, but just discover it, he will receive a hunting knife and Scout axe, compliments of Messrs. Fox and Giddings. Perhaps a Boy Scout can do this in lieu of another nature Boy Scout project this summer.

Strange, too, that no one has accidentally come upon the nest. City Forester Owen P. Fox states that nests of eagles sometimes weigh a ton, and it is estimated that eagles nest in one location for a period of 30 years if not molested.

Live To Be Very Old

The bald eagles live to be very old. In 1782 the eagle was adopted by Congress to be the national emblem, and federal law protects them in the United States, but not in Canada.

Baby fledglings in the eagle family are a dark brown and large at birth. They learn to walk around the rim of the nest before leaving the parents.

A female eagle is larger than the male and is usually 32.85 inches long. In both the female and male their wings have a spread of seven and a half feet. One can always detect a matured male eagle by his white head and tail. Their beaks, of course, are a brilliant yellow.

The range of the bald eagle is in the United States, southern Canada and extends to the central part of Mexico.

An erroneous belief that still exists is that eagles are capable of carrying away young children. Mr. Fox reassuringly stated that this is not so, for the eagle cannot lift a weight of more than 10 pounds off the ground.

There are five species of eagles in the United States, namely the golden eagle, whose legs are feathered to their talons; the gray sea eagle, northern and southern bald eagles, and the steller's sea eagle.

So, there you are, Boy Scouts—see what you can do!

Report Graziano In Peak Shape

CHICAGO, July 7.—(INS)—Rocky Graziano, who will make his second bid for the middleweight boxing crown at the Chicago stadium July 16, was reported already in peak condition today.

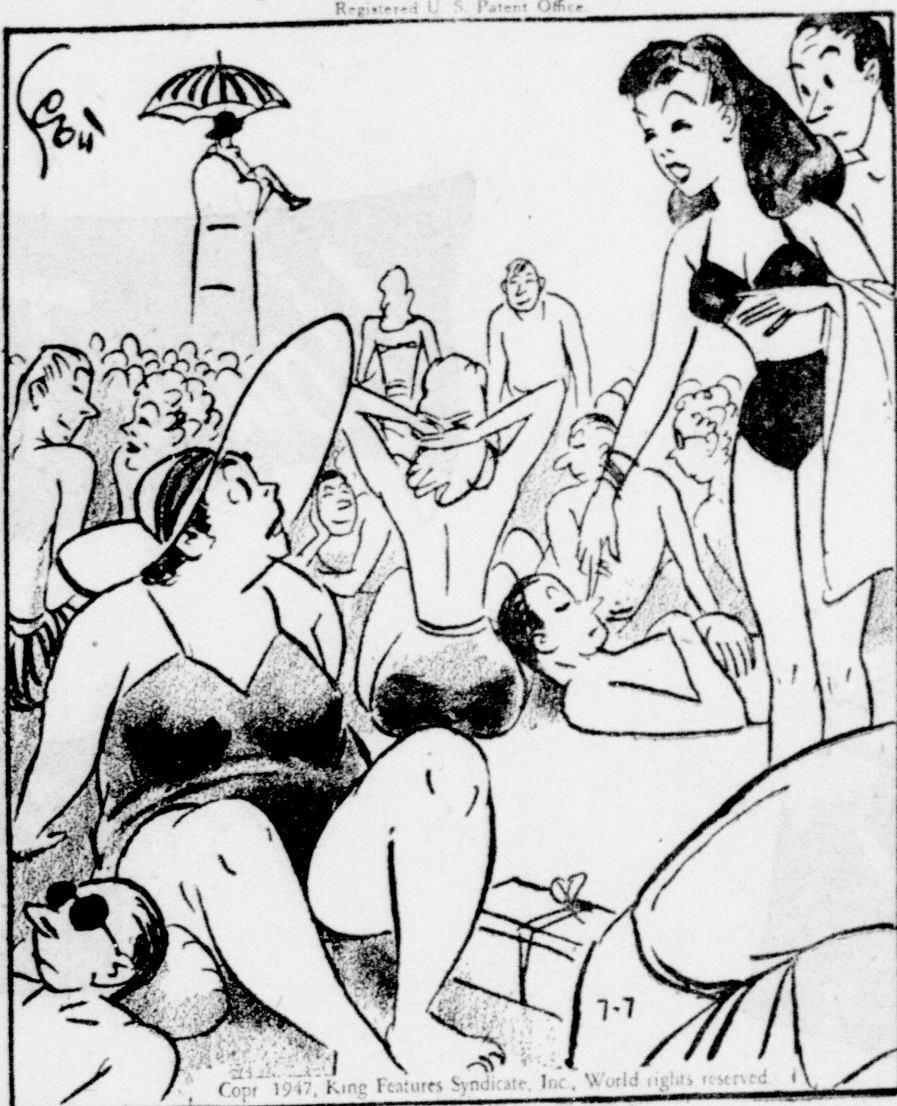

Handlers of the hard-punching New York challenger for Tony Zale's crown declared their main problem is keeping Graziano's weight up for the bout.

Rocky weighed in recently at 155 1-4 pounds, four and three-quarters under the division limit of 160, at the conclusion of his workout.

Meanwhile, Zale went nine full rounds, including seven with sparring partners, in a strenuous workout.

The Gary, Ind., title holder tipped the scales at 162 pounds, two over the championship limit.

Lockley Team Enjoys Outing

On Thursday evening, July 3, the Lockley team of the American Legion Lockley league were guests of the Lockley Machine company, sponsor of the team, at their summer cottage along Slippery Rock creek.

The hours were spent in tennis, ping pong, swimming and boating, followed by a hamburger fry with all the trimmings and plenty of soft drinks.

The balance of the evening was spent in games and sports which was highlighted by a canoe battle, in which the occupants of the defeated canoe were dunked with their clothes on. At the close of the evening watermelons were cut and the boys took these in their customary stride.

Arrangements for the outing were made by Ted Clarke, with "Genial Joe" O'Leary, field manager and coach, on hand to see that the boys kept in training.

Mrs. Sid Lockley did a swell job of cooking the hamburgers, assisted by Sid, Jr., Joe O'Leary and Miss Lockley. Guests in addition to the team included Elroy Lockley, Pete Boyd and Don McClintock.

Rain Moves Planned Outdoor Service To Church Auditorium

Dr. J. Paul Graham Speaker In Second Of Series Of Community Services At Christian Church

Weather conditions were unfavorable for the second community outdoor service of the churches of New Castle and vicinity on Sunday evening, with the result the service was held in the auditorium of the First Christian church on the Public Square instead.

Dr. J. Paul Graham, pastor of the Third U. P. church, was the evening speaker, using as his theme "Which Master?" The speaker dwelt on the thought that God calls individuals today along many lines and that each is to do his task well wherever he is called to serve.

Featured vocalist of the evening was Miss Lena McConnell of the First Presbyterian church, who sang two solos during the service. She was accompanied by Mrs. John F. Love, who also served as pianist during the evening.

Leading the service was Miss Dorothy Craig, who read the scripture lesson and introduced the speaker of the evening.

DON'T END YOUR VACATION PARKED ON A HOSPITAL BED

Hospitals are necessary institutions, but they're poor places in which to wind up your vacation. This is vacation time, the time to take to the open road, to the shore, to the mountains, or to the plains of the west.

This year why not drive safely for two, yourself and the other fellow. After all, you don't have to be at your destination on the split second.

A few seconds wait may save you a month in a hospital. Have fun, but take it easy. Safety is no accident. Drive away on your vacation so you can drive back home.

Congratulations

to the Sons of Italy for the successful management of a real convention.

named a Grand Trustee. Mrs. Clotilde Ross and Mrs. Anita Berardi of Ellwood City were named commissioners of the Orphans' Home and Alderman Samuel A. Bassano was named a commissioner of the Mortuary Fund.

Merit Certificate

For his co-operation and assistance in making the convention the success it was, Captain Roger W. Rowland of New Castle was given Certificate of Merit by the convention.

Answering a plea of the Rev. Giovanni Minozzi, representative of the Italian government for aid for Italian war orphans, the convention raised $4,000 which was promptly matched by the grand officers of the order. The $8,000 will go towards aiding war orphans in Italy.

In the resolution condemning Communism the convention said, "Communism is a malignant tumor in the body politic, and if allowed to grow will destroy our society. We further believe Communism and Christianity cannot live in the same climate."

The Truman Doctrine and the Marshall plan for European peace were commended. Further aid for Italy in the extension of credits and the admission of Italy to the United Nations were asked.

Mayor John F. Haven was commended for the hospitality of New Castle during the convention. A resolution asking for bonuses, pensions, and priorities for veterans was passed. Governor James H. Duff was thanked for his official greetings to the convention and his work as governor characterized as "having measured above the level of his duties."

Saturday Night Banquet

The banquet held Saturday night in the Cathedral exceeded the number expected. A figure of 700 was set as the probable number to attend. Over 900 were present.

Attorney Michael A. Barletta of Ellwood City was the toastmaster of the evening and did a workmanlike job. Speakers included the Italian Ambassador H. E. Albert Tarchiano of Rome Italy, Supreme Venerable Judge Felix Forte of Massachusetts, Grand Venerable, Judge Eugene A. Alessandrini, Venerable John Tampagna of Hartford, Connecticut, Rev. Giovanni Minozzi, and Congressman Fred S. Crawford of Michigan.

Locally, the following speakers spoke: Mayor John F. Haven, Judge John G. Lamore, General Chairman B. J. Biondi and Venerable John Di Lorenzo.

Mayor Haven and Judge Lamore extended the greetings of the city and county. Ambassador Tarchiano pleaded for a better understanding of the problems of Italy and a working together of America and Italy for world peace. The venerable listed spoke on the work of the Sons of Italy and urged an even more vigorous campaign of action for Americanism. Congressman Crawford spoke in a similar vein.

Opening Wednesday, July 2, the convention program was a busy one through Sunday. In addition to the convention sessions General Chairman Biondi has listed such social events as band concerts, vaudeville entertainment and dances in the club home, automobile trips and luncheons for the women delegates, a huge patriotic parade on July 4, a fire works display in the evening.

Commend Arrangements

The success of the convention was commented upon freely by the state and national heads of the Sons of Italy. "One of the best we ever had," said Judge Alessandrini. "Outstanding," said Supreme Venerable Felix Forte. "As fine a piece of organizational work as I ever saw," said Grand Secretary Earnest L. Biagi.

From the local level the convention was a credit to the Trionfo Italiano Lodge, Sons of Italy and to the City of New Castle. The convention was large but orderly. There were no untoward incidents, no disorder, no rudeness. It was a convention that proved once again that New Castle facilities to care for, and the men and women to handle large conventions.

Earliest Legal Code Discovered

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(INS)—Sections of the earliest legal code known to man have been discovered wedge-written on four fragments of a clay tablet in the University of Pennsylvania Museum.

The fragments of the code—preceding the ancient "eye-for-an-eye and tooth-for-a-tooth" code of Hammurabi by about 150 years—were discovered by scientists cataloguing inscriptional material excavated from the city of Nippur in southern Mesopotamia nearly 50 years ago. Written in Cuneiform script in the Sumerian language by the Babylonian King Lipit-Ishtar, its legal doctrines, decisions and punishments seem, in many instances, to have served as prototypes to the Semite Hammurabi who ruled about 1755 B. C.

Cite Sanitary Laws To Keep Streams Clean

Penalties Severe To Persons Or Companies Polluting Water In This State

HARRISBURG, July 7.—(INS)—Pennsylvania has pure stream laws which are administered by the sanitary water board through the department of health which forbid the dumping of any kind of organic matter, silt, poisons, into the streams of the commonwealth.

This dumping not only means putting these substances directly into the stream but placing them in such a place and manner that rains may wash them into the streams.

There are severe criminal penalties involved which may result in heavy fines and (or) imprisonment for the parties involved even though the pollution may be caused by carelessness.

Any person who washes down a stable with antiseptics or washes manure, etc., down a drain which can reach a stream anyone who spreads cesspool cleanings or manure on a field without ploughing it under so that it can reach a stream, any person washing out poison or spray barrels or who sprays in excess or puts down poisonous weed killers in such profusion and in such a manner that it may be washed into a stream during rains or floods is not only guilty of polluting the stream criminally but I think that his lawyer would tell him that should this pollution kill fish, or cause the death or sickness of any animals, he could be sued in the civil courts.

Use Streams As Dumps
Numerous small apartment dwellers seem to have difficulty in disposing of trash or garbage and take out into the country and dump a collection on a stream bank.

Not only are they guilty of causing a nuisance but they can get a stream pollution fine of from $100-$5,000 plus a term in jail and they can get the same thing for dumping old crankcase oil into a stream or washing down a motor over the bank.

Some persons have been lulled into a sense of security by misleading advertisements. Many DDT sprays advertised as being non-poisonous to man and beast. Maybe they are but DDT is a fish killer of the first magnitude and anyone using DDT so that any of it can get into a stream is liable to a severe penalty.

Frequently fields of vegetables on a slope leading to a stream are so loaded with poison that they look as though it had snowed. Certainly the first rain is going to wash much of this poison into little rivulets which carry it into the streams and if this happens the man responsible can be prosecuted criminally and any person downstream whose property is injured by the poison can collect damages.

Weed Killers Are Bad
Weed killers which get washed into streams are often just as bad. Few people probably realize that when enough poison gets into a stream to kill fish it also kills the minute aquatic life upon which the fish feed and may thus render the stream incapable of supporting fish life for a period of years.

These anti-pollution laws are not to be turned off lightly as they are being strictly enforced and will be more strictly enforced as time goes on.

MACHINES AID FARMING
PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—(INS)—Through the use of modern machinery a farm or plantation requires only one-sixteenth of the normal manpower, according to a study conducted by the New Holland Machine Co.

One farmer, in making an experiment, has planted 725 acres of cotton, oats, corn and grain—and is using only four men.

New Holland statisticians claim that with full mechanization, cotton can be produced for nine man hours an acre, compared to 235 hours by hand.

14 New Acts Of
General Assembly*Also Backs Sen. Martin's Unceasing Attack On Communism In NationHARRISBURG, July 7.—(INS)— Gov. James H. Duff Saturday announced approval of 14 new acts of the general assembly and a resolution endorsing U. S. Sen. Edward Martin's unceasing attack on Communism.Authority for assessment boards to revise assessments and valuations on property in all but first, second and third class counties was extended in one of the measures signed into law by the governor.One hundred thousand dollars was transferred to the department of labor and industry for payments to workers from the second injury fund.Another act postponed until 1949
the effective date of the mandatory financial responsibility law, first adopted by the assembly in 1945
but never operative, requiring motorists to carry insurance.Other BillsOther bills approved by the governor appropriated $400,000 for the school veterinary at the University of Pennsylvania; made employees of the Scranton tax collector's office eligible to join the retirement system; established a house of detention for juveniles in Philadelphia;
allocated $206,000 to the Philadelphia Museum and School of Industrial Art; allowed three per cent of taxes levied by Scranton to be divided equally between pension
funds for policemen and firemen;
appropriated $69,000 for the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia; transferred money from the state fish fund to the state employees retirement commission; and allocated $45,500 to the Moore Institute of Design in Philadelphia.Governor Duff discarded non-essential post-war projects in favor of an $89,000,000 program for mental hospital improvements.He approved a series of bills earmarking a total of $25,290,000 for initial stages of the work designed to eliminate hazardous conditions in 20 state mental hospital institutions.Hospital FundsIn addition, Governor Duff signed legislation repealing appropriations totaling $9,560,000 made by the general assembly in 1945 and poured the money into the hospital construction fund.The veto scrapped proposed state capital park improvements, armory construction and erection of a building at Harrisburg to house war records, and construction of commonwealth office buildings in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.Governor Duff signed bills increasing the salaries of state parole board members from $900 to $10-000 a year and raising the yearly wage of parole officers in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia counties from $4,500 to $6,000. The chairman of the board will receive $11,000 a year instead of $10,000.Proposed appropriation of $6,101-990 for improvements at 14 state teachers colleges and the Scotland Orphans' school was vetoed by the governor because no provision for the sum had been made in the budget.He also rejected legislation which would have required the commonwealth to pay wages to employees of state-aided institutions as long as they were eligible for workmen's compensation.The governor said "a preferred class of state and county employees" would be created with approval of the bill.Another bill vetoed would have set aside $25,000 for re-printing a booklet on Pennsylvania's frontier forts.SHOELESS MUST WALKHONOLULU.—The second esca-

AAA Apprehensive About Heavy Traffic On Roads During Next Two Months

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—The American Automobile Association looked ahead today at what should be the biggest two months of driving in history and crossed its fingers in the hope the accident rate would stay below 1946.

But AAA officials are not optimistic. Although automobile accidents in the first four months of 1947 resulted in only 9,250 deaths, as compared to 10,770 in the same period last year and 10,880 in the first four months of 1941, an upward curve has been noted.

An AAA spokesman said garages are well prepared to give wreck service, but he hoped they won't have to give too much. The association, with about 10 percent of service garages affiliated, has 14,000 garages with 75,000 mechanics and 25,000 pieces of equipment on tap.

The spokesman said: "Our field reporters have noted that people are just not driving quite as carefully as last year."

He pointed out that there are a great many new cars on the road this year that weren't running in 1946, when drivers had a tendency to be careful because of old tires and equipment.

After the first fear of crumpling a shiny fender wears off, most drivers are tempted to open them up to see what they will do, and keep on opening them up.

The AAA reported that in the first four months of this year highway traffic as a whole was nine percent over last year, when a record total of 170 billion miles was recorded.

The nine percent is expected to jump as vacation drivers hit the road in the months of July and August, when AAA officials expect to see more highway travel than ever before.

The association is emphasizing and continuing its "Take It Easy" campaign that worked effectively last year despite generally poor condition of vehicles and tires.

The Taiping Rebellion (1850-64) was the greatest civil war of Chinese history. Estimates of the people killed in the revolt run into millions, while the property and economic loss to China was incalculable.

Garden Notes

If you desire added quantities of vitamins then use greens made from beet tops, turnip tops and mustard. Use them while they are young and tender.

Rose gardens which are not mulched should be kept lightly cultivated. This, with persistent spraying and watering, will bring the plants back into full bloom as the weather gets cooler.

Elm seedlings have an annoying habit of sprouting in flower beds and the cracks of rock gardens. Pull them up while they are young. The same treatment applies to young maple sprouts.

For replanting irises a dry spell should be selected and the rhizomes allowed to lie in the sun and bake for a while after having had most of the leaves and all diseased spots cut off.

Late July and August is the planting time for kale, turnips and late crop spinach. All three are quite resistant to frost.

Mulching tomato plants about the time the fruit starts to show color is a good practice. It conserves moisture in the soil, keeps down weeds and prevents the roots from being disturbed by too close cultivating.

A Six-Month Report

WE HAVE MADE PROGRESS... WE HAVE A LONG WAY TO GO

During the first six months of this year, we took 73,927 names off our Pennsylvania waiting lists.

To accomplish this, we installed 9 new central offices, made major additions to 10, enlarged 120 others, strung and laid 167,000 miles of outside wire. All this required the investment of some twenty-five million dollars.

Yet there are today 98,000 names on our waiting lists—more than at the start of the year. And the national waiting lists bulge with more than two million names.

Since the first of the year, we have had over 150,000 applications for telephone service. The demand continues to shatter all records, all predictions, and all calculations—and there is no sign of any let-up.

In the Next Six Months

Between now and the end of the year, we plan to install 7 new central offices, to make major additions to 15, to enlarge 175 others, and to string and lay 200,000 miles of outside wire—requiring further investment in telephone plant of approximately thirty-five million dollars.

All this will enable us to remove from the waiting lists in the neighborhood of 90,000 names.

Petrillo Declares Musicians Will Quit Record Making

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—James Caesar Petrillo, musicians' "czar," told congress today that his union will refuse to make records for recording companies after next December 31.
Petrillo outlined his position after the head of a congressional committee bluntly told him that the musicians' union is engaging in "unfair activities detrimental to the nation and accused him of being a dictator who has denied Americans "The right to hear the kind of music they may desire to hear."
The union boss told a special house investigating subcommittee that the "canned music situation" should be blamed for labor-management difficulties in the music field.
He said the union had decided not to work for recording companies when the present contract expires December 31.

London Scientist
Has Suggestion
On Flying Saucers

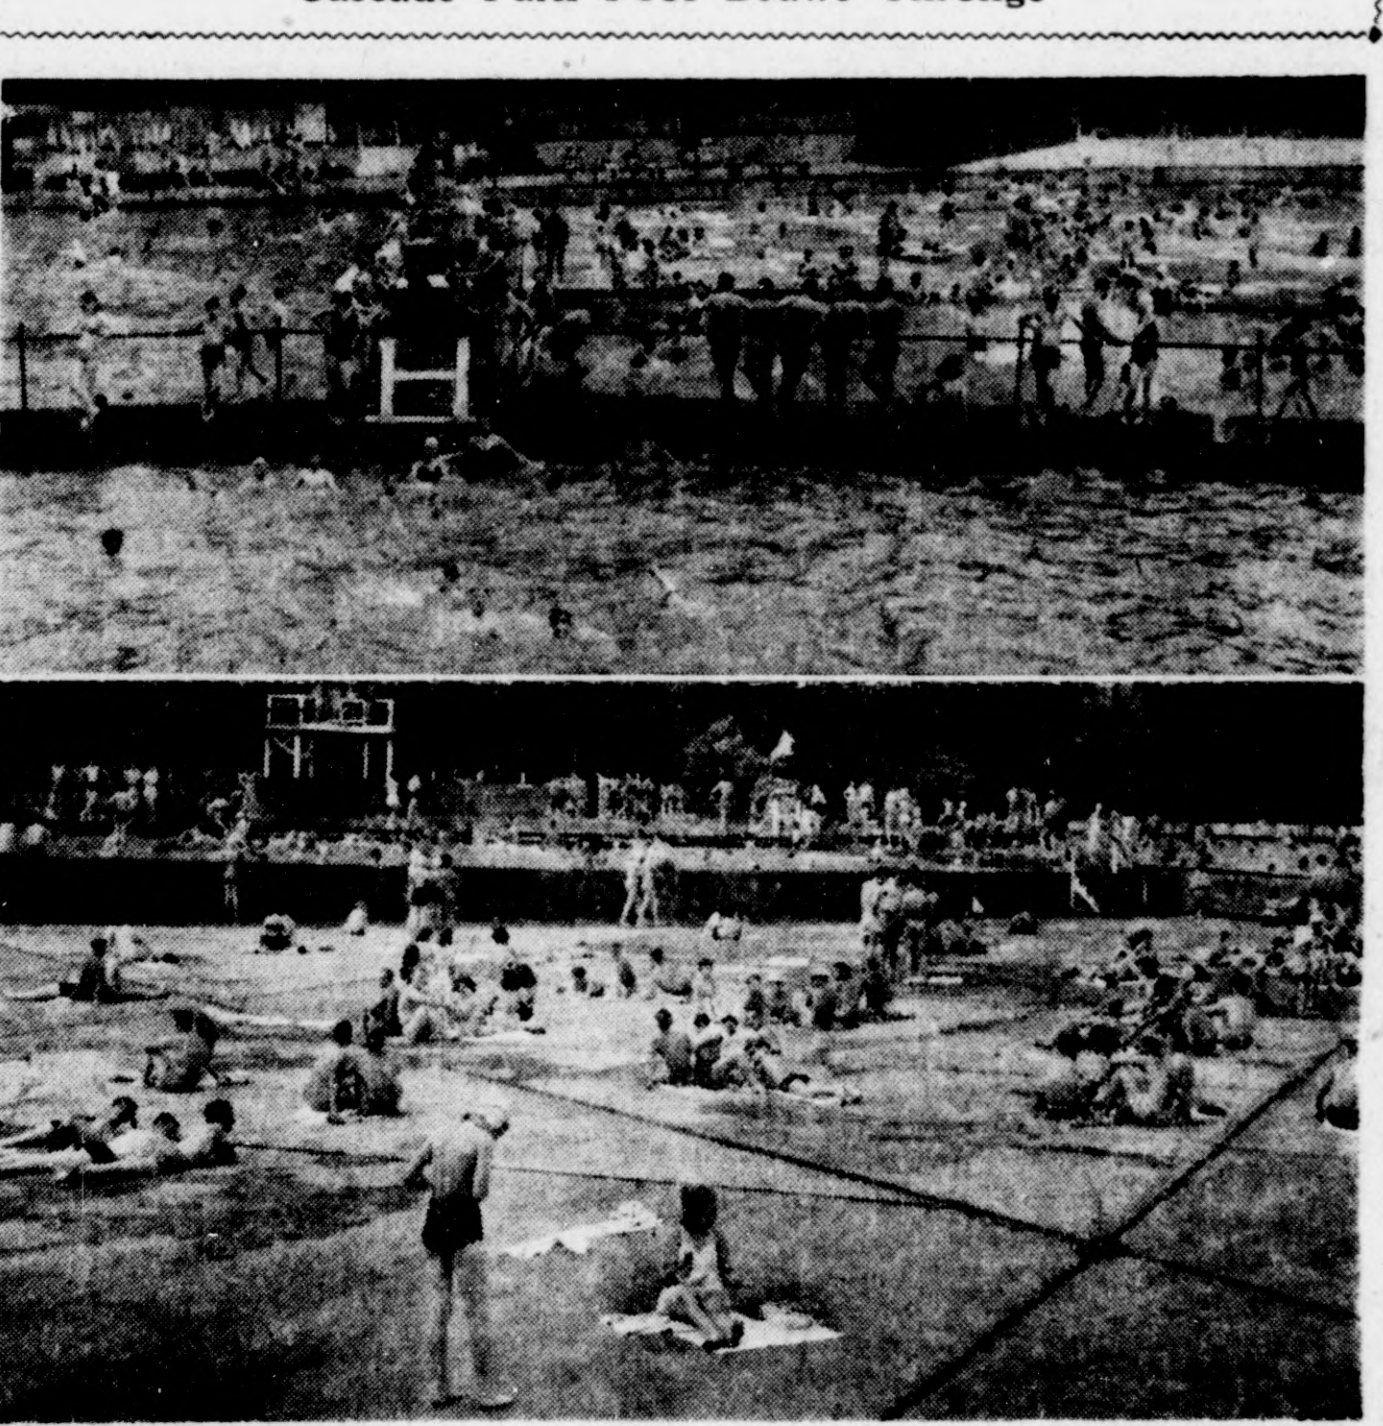

LONDON, July 7.—(INS)—Prof. A. M. Low suggested today that America's mysterious "flying saucers" could "easily" result from experimentation designed to create artificial satellites for scientific purposes.
The prominent British physicist remarked to International News Service:
"Before the war German, American and British scientists seriously were considering the creation of an artificial satellite—that is, a miniature planet—which would serve many purposes, such as deflecting television rays.
"If some nation presently is working on this project it would easily result in the appearance of phenomena like flying saucers."
Professor Low said the disks might result from two possible causes—rocket experimentation, or experimentation with radar-deflection material—taking place outside the United States.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Sunday marked the opening of the summer camping season at camp Fred L. Rantz, the Y. M. C. A. installation along the banks of the Slippery Rock creek.
Sixty eager boys arrived at the site on Sunday with the remaining 12 expected in camp today.
Yesterday was spent in assigning the young campers to their cabins, and late in the afternoon the boys were familiarized with the waterfront system and enjoyed a refreshing swim.
Vesper Service
Following dinner the boys joined in a vesper worship service, with Dr. Robert Galbreath, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, as the speaker. Dr. Galbreath used the 23rd Psalm as a reference and delivered a fine inspirational talk to the campers.
Later in the evening an indoor campfire session was held and the rules of the camp were explained by director William Winter.
Rain failed to dampen the spirits of the boys who are determined to make their week at the site the highlight of their summer vacation days.

Cascade Park Pool Draws Throngs

Since the opening of the deep pool at Cascade park several weeks ago, it has been one of the most popular swimming places in the county. On the last Sunday in June the total number to use the pool was over 1600. Yesterday, in spite of the cool afternoon, the pool was well patronized as evident in the two photos above. The large pool that hasn't been filled this year is used by sunbathers between swims. The top photo is taken from the high diving board and shows the three pools in use.

Third Pittsburgh
Hotel Is Held Up

Two Armed "Flashily Dressed" Bandits Get $400 From Keystone Hotel Today
PITTSBURGH, July 7.—(INS)—Two armed "flashily dressed" gunmen today held up the Keystone Hotel in downtown Pittsburgh and escaped with approximately $400, police reported.
It was the third downtown hotel robbery in six days.
The youthful bandits, each carrying revolvers, walked into the hotel while William A. Jonas, a room clerk of Pittsburgh, and Albert E. Brennan, the auditor, of McKeesport, were on duty.
While one bandit walked behind the desk, Albert Lancelot walked into the hotel lobby and was ordered behind the counter. A few minutes later C. G. Denny walked in. He was pushed behind the counter.
Police said the description of the pair tallies with the two bandits who last week held up the Edison and Mayflower hotels.

We have just celebrated another anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by which the colonists cut themselves loose from political oppression.
Let us in New Castle resolve and prepare to cut ourselves loose from local political oppression.
Next September 9th would be a good day for the citizens of New Castle to have a local "Boston Tea Party".

Yanks Increase Lead With Double Win Over Macks

By LES KONKIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 7.—The forgotten American league wall of "break up the Yankees" may soon be revived unless some contender takes a fall out of the high-flying New York club after the all-star hiatus.

When the season started, the Yanks were conceded only an outside chance to beat the champion Red Sox. But today thanks to the rejuvenation of an elderly first baseman, George McQuinn, and the development of a sensational rookie pitcher in Spec Shea, they are a different club.

Yanks Grab Pair
The Bronx bombers have captured eight straight, their longest winning streak of the season, and have copped 20 of their last 23 starts. Yesterday they gave Connie Mack's pennant dreams a bad jolt when they took two more games from his Athletics, 8 to 2 and 9 to 2.

Detroit and Boston kept pace with the leaders by sweeping their twin bills, but still trail the Yanks by eight games. Four homers gave the Tigers a 10 to 2 romp in the opener, but they had to stage a five-run rally in the ninth to take the nightcap, 8 to 4.

Taft Wright's single enabled the Chicago White Sox to nose out Cleveland, 3 to 2, but the Indians took the nightcap 5 to 1.

Brooklyn took first place in the National league away from Boston by blanking the Braves 4 to 0 behind the three-hit pitching of Ralph Branca.

The New York Giants were without a home run for the first time since June 18, but they mustered enough singles to score four runs, three of them unearned, to beat the Phillies 4 to 3.

The St. Louis Cardinals and

Pittsburgh Pirates got some good pitching and swept their twin bills as a result. Jim Hearn and Murray Dickson hurled the Cards to 3 to 0 and 2 to 0 shutouts over Cincinnati, allowing three and four hits respectively.

The Pirates won their first doubleheader of the season, stopping the Chicago Cubs 6 to 2 and 10 to 0, behind Tiny Bonham and Grandpa Fritz Ostermuller.

No games were scheduled for today.
